Verse 1

Em                    D                    C
Lord, if you had been here my brother would not have died. All glory be to God
Em                                    D                                    C
Lord, can't you see my affliction, I think I can't survive. All glory be to God
Em                                    D                                    C
Lord, they're seeking to stone you, you must not go to die. All glory be to God.

Verse 2

Em                                    D                                    C
How many more excused must you make before you see the light. All glory be to God
Em                    D                    C
See how he loved him. He sees each tear we cry. All glory be to God.
Em                                    D                                    C
My sin reeks, I'm too far gone, to come out of my tomb. All glory be to you.

Instrumental

Em D C

Outro

Em                    D                    C
"I am, the resurrection. So no one has to die." All glory be to God.
Em                                    D                                    C
So wake up, all you who are sleeping! And give glory to God, all glory be to God.
